

The rugged Montague Island is covered in detail. Photo courtesy and copyrighted – Hyams Publishing.

A guidebook for locals

Following the success of Beaches of Jervis Bay and the Shoalhaven, a guidebook featuring the fabulous beaches of the Shoalhaven, another book has recently been released focusing a bit further down the coast.

Beaches of Batemans Bay and the Eurobodalla Coast is a glovebox-sized 240-page book showcasing over 80 beaches from South Durras Beach to Wallaga Beach and includes town maps of the entire Eurobodalla.

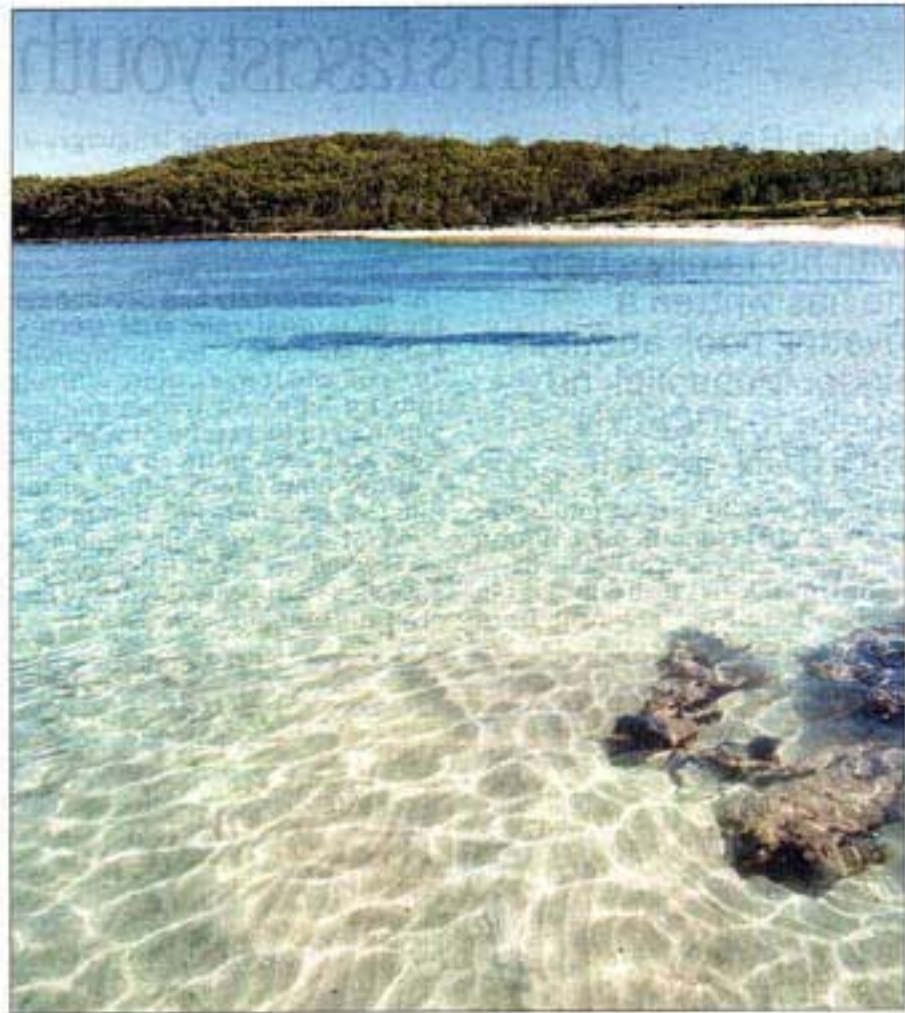

With over 80 beaches to browse, the book gives detailed beach information – amenities, boat ramps, barbecues, camping, bush walking, surfing and a lot more. Each beach has its own double page spread featuring beautiful photos, full descriptions, maps and an 'easy-find' legend to quickly identify the essentials.

Co-authors Peter and Manuela Henry, produced the book over a nine-month period, trekking to each beach to take photographs, check their research and gather more information.

Peter explains, "We wanted to produce a practical guide to the beautiful Eurobodalla beaches to complement the Shoalhaven beaches book.

"There are many beaches in the Eurobodalla that we might not even know exist, hopefully this book will assist." Manuela adds "It's a guidebook that we think even locals will find useful. We've even included special sections on the Mogo Zoo, Nelligen and Montague Island".

The publication is available now throughout the Eurobodalla, Canberra and Sydney in newsagents, bookstores, adventure stores and online.

The pristine Quiriga Beach, one of the many beautiful beaches featured in the well-researched book. Photo courtesy and copyrighted – Hyams Publishing.